WESTERLY LAWYERS WILLING

Will Take Office of Town Solicitor if Plum Comes Their Way—Pleasant View's Demands to Be Considered—Keg Collector Gets Fresh and is Stiffly Fined.

The statement made at the regular meeting of the Western town council that it would be more economical to have a town solicitor than pay regulation fees to a lawyer, and the information made by Councilman Burdick that he would make motion that the vote declaring that no town solicitor be appointed be rescinded, and that a solicitor be elected, provided Councilman Langworthy was present at the meeting, has had the effect of bringing to the fore local lawyers who would be willing to serve the town as legal adviser for the fixed salary of $600 a year.

Since the retirement of Everett A.
Kingley, the police committee has sought the counsel of Harry R. Agard, and his bill for three months' service footed up $410.
Mr. Agard is in line for the office of town solicitor, as he has been the only one to hold the place with the exception of the two years' service of Mr. Kingley, and the latter is willing to serve again.

When the first meeting of the present town council was held and before it was known that no solicitor was to be named, it is said that Samuel H. Davis was a leading candidate and was urged for the place by some of his experience in the State and order work in Massachusetts before being admitted to practice at the Rhode Island bar. Mr. Davis was formerly pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church in Westerly.

Attorney Walter P. Dixon, who is the oldest lawyer in town, is not averse to becoming solicitor.
There are two young lawyers in Westerly, recently admitted to the bar, and either one could fill the bill satisfactorily. They are Charles Dutton, graduate of the Albany law school and who finished his studies in the office of Judge John W. Sweeney; and Clarence J. Roche, who studied law in Judge Sweeney's office and is now associated with the judge in the law business.

The Saunders brothers, John and Suman, who have spent considerable time behind the bars, and who have been wanted for some time by the police authorities of Washington county, were arrested in Providence Tuesday evening by Inspector John J. O'Malley of police headquarters, by direction of Sergeant John R. Wilcox of Kingston.
They are under arrest on the charge of being stealing and will be arraigned in Hope Valley today before Judge Oliver H. Williams of Westerly, justice of the Third district court.

There will be a special town meeting on Monday night at 8 o'clock, the petition of Pleasant View property owners for improving the highways in that section of the town of Westerly. The call for this meeting is out of the ordinary and it is said there will be strong opposition to providing for the asked for improvements at this time.
It has been the custom to petition the town council for the calling of a special town meeting, but in this instance the required number of signatures was received and directed to the town clerk, making it obligatory upon that official to issue the call for the meeting, without town council action.

There is general favor for the proposed improvements, as they are needed.

Early Morning Fire Destroys Mintz Building and Contents—Fall Term of School Opens.

At about 1:45 Wednesday morning Night Watchman Cavanaugh in the engine house of the branch railroad blew a fire alarm with engine whistle.
It was found that fire had broken out in the one-story building owned by H.
Mintz and occupied by Fredmintz & Isador Mintz as variety and fruit stores and by a jeweler who lately moved in. The building being light and very dry, was a perfect tinderbox. The fire company responded, but it was seen that there was no need of their services on the building, but they stood in readiness until the fire was under control. The building was known as the Marble Front and came near being destroyed at the time of the burning of the Hubber company's plant. The building and contents were a total loss, as it is reported there was no insurance on either building or stock. Luckily there was not much wind blowing, as the large tenement house known as the six-chimney house was within thirty feet of the burning building. A man on the roof kept it wet down so that sparks had no effect. Friedman, who occupied one of the stores, slept in the building, and the alarm and rushed back to try and save some of his stock, but the fire had gained such headway it was impossible.

Westerly

William J. Latham, who has attended every day of the annual New London county fairs, at Norwich, from the first, fifty-five years ago, to date, had as a companion Tuesday, Charles Coom, superintendent of Wilcox park, who attended the Norwich fair for the first time. Mr. Latham has also been a regular attendant of other Connecticut fairs and the annual event in Brookline. He has made it a practice to return home each night and attend the fair the next day. Several years ago he was relieved of $500 at the Norwich fair, which he intended to deposit in a bank in that city, and since then he has been more careful with his cash.

Mr. Latham is 74 years of age, as active as the ordinary man of 60. He for many years conducted a lively stable in Westerly, but retired some time ago.

The Westerly high school football squad began its first practice Wednesday afternoon on the Elm street school football campus. Under the direction of Capt. Andy Martin, Captain Martin has a large number of big students from this year, and the freshmen class has a large number of big students.
From last year's squad there are left Poley, the left end, and baseball captain, Martin, captain, right end, Andrews, fullback, Champin, and end,
